EIGHT ARE KILLED AND MANY HURT

Bombs Again Fall Over British Capital.

MATERIAL DAMAGE IS SMALL

Bulgarian Division Almost Annihilated in Battle Near Kraguevatz, Serbia—Greece Answers Serbia and Declares Intention to Remain Neutral.

London, Oct. 14.—Zeppelin airships have made another raid over London, dropping bombs. Eight persons are said to have been killed and about thirty-four injured. The material damage done is said to have been small. The home office made the following report on the raid:

"A Zeppelin raid was made over a portion of the London area, when a certain number of incendiary and explosive bombs were dropped. The material damage done was small. A few fires resulted, but they were quickly put out by the fire brigade. The admiralty will issue a statement when particulars are available.

"At present it is only possible to say that no public buildings were injured and that the casualties so far reported number two women and six men killed and about thirty-four injured. With the exception of a soldier killed, all these were civilians.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Private advices are to the effect that a Bulgarian division was almost annihilated in a fierce battle near Kraguevatz, Serbia, says a dispatch to the Havas agency from Bucharest, dated Tuesday and delayed in transmission.

Athens, Oct. 14.—The Greek reply to Serbia's representations that the Bulgarian attack on Serbia completes the act of aggression contemplated under the treaty of alliance between Greece and Serbia, and asking if the Greek army is ready to enter action against Bulgaria, has been delivered. Beginning with the declaration that "the royal government greatly regrets that it is unable to accede to Serbia's request," the reply explains that the alliance of 1911, while foreseeing Bulgarian aggression, was limited to preserving an equilibrium among the Balkan states.

Affects Balkans Only.

"The preamble of the treaty," the reply continues, "defines it as of purely Balkan character, not applying to a general conflagration. Both the treaty of alliance and the military convention completing it prove in the first article that the contracting parties contemplated only isolated attacks by Bulgaria against one of them.

The note minutely argues that the treaty does not cover the situation which has arisen today—a situation in which "Greece might destroy herself without hope of saving Serbia, which cannot wish such a result."

It is added that "common interests demand that the Greek forces still be kept in reserve for a better use later."

The note concludes with the declaration that Greece intends to remain an armed neutral and "assures Serbia that Greece will continue to give her every assistance and facility compatible with Greece's exclusively international position."

VICTIMS OF COLLAPSE DIE

Another Victim of Denison, Ia., Accident Reported Dying.

Denison, Ia., Oct. 14.—Two of the victims of the collapse of the Kadock building, Mr. Kadock and Mike Maloney, Sr., died. Mrs. Smith, daughter of Mr. Maloney, is said to be dying and Mr. Dautzenheise, a traveling man whose home is in Dubuque, is in a critical condition.

The Kadock building, a two-story brick, collapsed after an adjoining building had been torn down.

BARON SITS IN HIGH COURT OF THE LAND

Washington, Oct. 14.—For the third time in the history of the court officials a foreign jurist had the honor of sitting with the supreme court of the United States.

The visitor was Baron Reading, lord chief justice of England, in America as chairman of the Anglo-French financial commission.

When the court convened for the afternoon session, Baron Reading walked into court with Chief Justice White, who ushered him to a seat at the right of his own place in a chair placed on the bench for the occasion.

For an hour and a half the head of the English law courts listened to arguments on the constitutionality of the North Dakota tax on express receipts.

So far as is recalled here, the distinction shown Baron Reading has been accorded only twice before—to Lord Coleridge when lord chief justice of England in 1883, and Lord Heschell, British lord high chancellor in 1899.

CLEAR HUSBAND'S SLAYER

Iowa Woman's Testimony Saves Her Brother Accused of Murder.

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—Herbert D. Hinkley was acquitted by Chief Justice Haultain of a charge of murder at a sitting of the supreme court at Humboldt, Sask. He was accused of shooting John Lockwood last May in a dispute over the joint ownership of property. He admitted the shooting, but said it was done in self-defense.

The principal witness in his favor was Mrs. Anna Frances Lockwood, the sister of the accused and the wife of the slain man, who was brought from Waterloo, Iowa, and contradicted the story she told at the inquest on May 18, when she said the shot that killed her husband was not fired in self-defense.

SCHMIDT JURY SHRINKS

Challenges Remove Eight Selected for Trial of Alleged Dynamiters.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14.—The four jurors already sworn who have been in the jury box for the past few days were all that remained of the tentative jury in the trial of Matthew A. Schmidt on a charge of murder in connection with the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, October 1, 1910. The other eight jurors, temporarily passed, were removed by five additional peremptory challenges exercised by the defense and three by the prosecution.

Judge Willis then ordered eleven names drawn from another department of the superior court.

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—When pupils of the Middle Lake school in the Saskatoon (Sask.) district, reached the place they found the door locked and later discovered the body of the teacher. Beside him was an empty bottle labeled "carbolic acid" and three letters telling of his intention to kill himself.

The dead man was Otto E. Becker. He went to Middle Lake in 1910 from Johnston, Minn.

War Surgeon Dressed to Prevent Infection

This is a British physician in the field ready for work. The British have learned as did the Germans long ago that extreme care must be taken to prevent infection of wounds. So careful are the surgeons that the rubber gloves are used only once. The nurses do not touch them in handing them to the surgeons, but use a pair of tongs, sterilized.

The mortality of wounded men in the Franco-Prussian war was about 75 percent. In this on the side of the Allies it has not been one-tenth of that.

WILSON TO ASK STRONGER FORCES

Increase for National Defense to Be Urged.

TOTAL REACHES $400,000,000

Proposal to Congress Will Include 120,000 Men for Land Service, With Reserve of 400,000—Bond Issue Is Probable.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Four hundred million dollars for national defense—an increase of approximately $140,000,000 over last year—constitutes the amount which President Wilson and his advisers at present estimate should be appropriated by the next congress for the army and navy.

As the date for completion of the annual estimates draws near the president is giving preliminary consideration to the national defense budget, out of which it is hoped to lay down a stronger naval program than the United States ever has authorized in its history, and similarly a larger provision for the military establishment than has been customary in times of peace.

Approves Garrison's Plan.

The President has had before him for several weeks the outlines of a military policy of a continuing character, framed by Secretary Garrison after more than a year's study with officers of the general staff. With it, the president is in hearty accord, regarding it as a conservative, well balanced program.

While the details have not been revealed, a substantial increase in the regular army, probably from 87,000 to at least 120,000 men, and the creation of a reserve of perhaps 400,000 men, through short term enlistment service of citizens interested in military training, are said to be parts of the plan.

Increase of $60,000,000.

As yet, the exact appropriation to be definitely recommended for the army and navy, respectively, has not been definitely fixed. Indications are that the army's budget of $110,000,000 last year will be increased by at least $60,000,000, while Secretary Daniels is figuring on obtaining a $100,000,000 increase over the navy appropriation of $148,000,000 of last year.

When the president and the secretaries of war and the navy confer next week, it is understood an effort will be made to bring the total sum within the $400,000,000 mark, as at present the combined total which the two branches of the service will submit to the president, it is said, would make about $450,000,000. If the needs of the two services can be cut to $400,000,000, the total increase over last year would be about $140,000,000.

The general view in administration quarters now is that a bond issue will be proposed as a means of meeting the added expense.

ROB SALOON; BATTLE POSSE

Outlaws at Tintah, Minn., Escape After Running Fight.

White Rock, S. D., Oct. 14.—Three masked and armed men entered the Tintah saloon, at Tintah, Minn., ordered the proprietor, bartender and all patrons to line up along the wall with averted faces and then robbed the till. They got about $50 and left without trying to rob any of the men. The robbers ran toward the Great Northern yards.

A posse of citizens formed quickly and members opened fire on the robbers, who answered shot for shot.

A running battle took place along a freight train in the yards, but the robbers escaped.

No evidence that any one was struck by any of the shots has been found. Surrounding towns have been notified to watch for the trio.

RUSSIANS TAKE STRONGHOLD

Continue Offensive Near Roumanian Border.

SUPPLY TRAINS ARE SEIZED

Slav Cavalry Pours Through Bresch and Causes Confusion in Rear of Enemy—Von Linsingen Must Regroup His Forces.

Petrograd, Oct. 14.—Another striking victory has been won by the Russians on the southern front, in Eastern Galicia. They have pierced the last line of the Austrian defenses on the Strpa river and stormed one of the strongest points on the Austro-German right flank.

This achievement of the Russians, following their successes reported on the Dvinsk front, represented a continuation of the recent strong offensive movement north of the Roumanian frontier. The position they stormed was a hill to the east of the village of Glavoranka on the right bank of the Strpa, thirteen miles north of Buchach.

Foothold Menaces Foe.

This fortification was constructed scientifically and was of great strength. From this base, the Austrians had prepared to strike at the Russian left flank extending toward Pinsk. The Russian successes around Kolha and Charteriesk, however, enabled them to obtain a footing on the left bank of the Strpa, which seriously menaced their opponents.

Having thus completely secured the Rovno district and the road leading into Volhynia and the marsh region, the Russians occupied strong positions along the rivers Olychka, Etyr, Ikwa and Sereb. They prevented the Austrians and Germans from entrenching, as they seemed disposed to do, and warded off a blow aimed at the Russian right wing.

Rear in Confusion.

By careful reconnaissances, the Russians prepared a counter offensive. Reaching a series of entanglements and trenches, they drove out the Tuetonic forces from their positions, seized a considerable number of prisoners and widened the breach sufficiently to enable cavalry to engage in energetic pursuit. The cavalry seized the supply trains and threw the Tuetonic rear into confusion.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 prisoners were captured by the Russians. The war office estimates that upwards of three divisions of the Austrians were disorganized. It characterizes this success as a tactical, strategical and political victory, asserting it will compel General von Linsingen to regroup his forces on the whole front, which will affect operations in the entire southeastern district.

ATTACK IMMIGRATION RULE

Russians Ask Supreme Court to Void Regulation Excluding Them.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The supreme court was asked to pass upon the asserted power of federal immigration officials to exclude from the country immigrants bound to cities in which there are many unemployed.

The suit was brought by two Russian Kabardinians, who were denied admission because immigration officials at New York found they were destined for Portland, Ore., where reports of industrial conditions at that time indicated it might be impossible for them to obtain employment.

TYRANNY OF CASTE.

The Despised Hindu Pariah and the Bonds He Strives to Break.

Nowhere does Hindu priestcraft show its original despotism more clearly than in the ordinances prohibiting all social communication with the "depressed classes," or the so-called pariahs.

Those who know conditions will agree that neither the term "pariah" nor "depressed" is strong or explicit enough to convey to the minds of the readers the real condition of the pariah. A dog is allowed to come near a man, a cat is allowed to enter a house, but not a pariah. If even the shadow of a pariah touches a caste man the latter must bathe away his pollution.

One day on the bank of a river a Brahman was performing his midday ablutions. A few pariahs were tugging at a boat, with a rope tied to the mast. The moment the shadow of the rope fell on the Brahman at prayer he looked at the men who were tugging the boat and was furious with rage. His bath was lost, his ablutionary rites lost, by the touch of the shadow of a rope in the hands of pariahs. He plunged into the river again, this time not saying his bathing hymns, but abusing the pariahs for causing him extra trouble.

The maharaja of Travancore and the gackwar of Baroda have already allowed the pariahs to send representatives into their imperial legislative councils. The latter has established special schools and boarding houses to facilitate the education of the "untouchables" of his state. The pariahs themselves are taking courage and objecting to the ignomies to which they are subjected. At the least displeasure they go on strike and bring the high caste people to their knees. Some time ago the sweepers and scavengers of Simla went on strike for higher wages and made the government of his Britannic majesty accept the terms which they dictated.—Basanta Kumar Roy in Century Magazine.

BRITISH WOMEN ASKED TO WED THE MAIMED.

London, Oct. 14.—Rev. Ernest Houghton, a Bristol rector, has started an appeal to patriotic women of the nation to give their lives to ameliorate the condition of maimed heroes of the war by marrying them.

He has launched a "League for the marrying of broken heroes." The rector contends that the example of France shows that unions thus arranged promise a greater percentage of happiness than is customary from the methods in England.

WOMAN'S REALM

HEARD IN RECITAL

Miss Fern Hitt, Violin Pupil of C. Jensen, Delights Audience in Fine Program

Those who attended the recital given by Miss Fern Hitt at the First Methodist church last night, will not soon forget the beautiful rendition of the "Souvenir," by Drdla, "Meditation" from "Thais" or "Mazurka de Concert" by Musin, her closing number.

Miss Hitt draws from her violin a tone of wonderful quality and at times marked by exquisite shading. No part was slightest or passed over lightly, but every finest detail received the careful expression which results only from thorough understanding and careful study, reflecting great credit on Prof. Jensen as a teacher of violin.

From the standpoint of technique Miss Hitt has reached a high standard shown in the ease with which she rendered the most difficult passages from the "Concerto VII" by C. H. de Beriot, revealing remarkable ability and thorough training.

Miss Hitt was most ably assisted by Miss Maybelle Johnson, mezzo soprano, and J. Gussie Small tenor.

Great credit is due Miss Gladys Nitterauer as accompanist who played an admirable sympathetic accompaniment.

Fitch-Haaker

Miss Beulah Gladys Fitch was married to John Emil Haaker on Saturday evening at the home of her parents residing on the Kronberg farm near Brainerd, the ceremony taking place at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. M. L. Hostager officiating.

The ring service was used. The bride was attired in white silk crepe de chine and carried white roses. The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Zilda Fitch. The best man was Maurice Haaker, a brother of the bridegroom. Taking prominent part in the ceremony were the little flower girl and ring bearer.

A sumptuous supper was served at 9:30 in the evening. The bridegroom has a fine farm and they will make their home on it. The Dispatch joins their many friends in wishing them unbounded happiness and prosperity.

Doing Her Best.

Mrs. Lambert laid down the evening paper, looked across the library table at her husband and remarked:

"Really, some of the things you read seem almost incredible. After all, one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives."

"Never mind," replied the brute, "that's certainly no fault of yours."—Pittsburgh Press.

GREAT FUTURE FOR WIRELESS PHONE

Navy Officials Enthusiastic Over Success of Trials.

DISTANCES ARE ANNIHILATED

Voices From Wireless Tower at Arlington, Va., Heard Distinctly at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii—Will Be Great Boon For the Small Vessels That Cannot Afford Wireless Outfits.

Navy officials are enthusiastic over experiments resulting for the first time in long distance wireless telephone communication. By this means the human voice has been successfully transmitted from the Arlington wireless plant to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, a distance of 4,900 miles.

This achievement, together with the successful operation of a device for automatically transferring to the radio telephone conversations originating on metallic circuits, was accomplished after extended tests conducted by direction of Captain William H. G. Bullard, chief of the navy's radio service, in co-operation with the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Western Electric company.

From the United States navy's radio tower at Arlington, Va., John Mills, an electrical engineer, sent his voice westward through the air over an ordinary telephone instrument connected with a powerful wireless telegraph apparatus.

At the naval station at Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu, Hawaii, which is 4,900 miles away in a straight line, Lloyd Espenschied, another engineer in the service of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, was waiting with receivers at his ears for the message that was to come through the ether—the message which was to be started, at least, from Arlington in the hope that it might reach the little island far out in the Pacific.

It did.

The fondest hopes of the hundreds of scientific experimenters in the company's service had been realized.

Espenschied had heard Mills counting, "One, two, three, four," and then from one to seven and from one to nine and had reported back in his cablegram the exact numbers which his colleagues across the earth had given him as tests. He had heard Mills speak several sentences, which he (Espenschied) copied down and sent back in his cable message to prove that the other engineer's voice actually had reached him.

Only the day before the world stood astounded at the news that President Vail of the American Telegraph and Telephone company had talked by wireless to San Francisco—about 2,500 miles in an air line—to John J. Carty, his chief engineer.

Yet the later talk compassed a distance almost twice as great. A voice had sped through the air for nearly 5,000 miles. When Mr. Vail and the other officers of the company and their scientists got the glad tidings they pointed out happily this vista of the near future.

Wireless telephone conversation between New York and London, New York and Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Madrid—even Petrograd!

Had the engineer in Hawaii been equipped with a sending apparatus such as the one at Arlington, he could have made immediate vocal reply to his colleague. But, as was also the case in the San Francisco test, the station at Pearl Harbor was equipped only with a receiving "set." When the next long distance tests are made each station will have sending and receiving apparatus, so that a complete conversation may be had.

Problem of Static Interference.

One of the big problems yet to be solved in connection with wireless telephony is static interference, according to J. J. Carty, chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

"As an extension of the regular wire system," Mr. Carty said, "the field for the wireless telephone is restricted. At certain times of the year, particularly in the summer, static conditions will make its use uncertain. Static interference is something we know very little about and is one of the big problems yet to be solved. We are going after it."

"The number of calls that can be handled simultaneously on the wireless telephone is limited, but for emergency use on long distances it will be invaluable, and for use in limited areas it should prove a great boon. It will be possible, for instance, for fishing smacks and other small boats, unable to afford a wireless operator, to carry a wireless telephone and be in immediate communication with the shore and each other."

MEDIUM SIZED POTATOES BEST

D. E. Willard, of the Northern Pacific Railway Co., Gives Views of Most Desirable "Spuds"

THEY COMMAND HIGHER PRICES

For Planting Use Seed Potatoes Weighing From 5 to 8 Ounces, Says Mr. Willard

Sound potatoes of good flavor, medium size and regular shape are the kind of potatoes that the public wants to buy, according to D. E. Willard of the Northern Pacific railway company, who recently conducted an extended investigation—in homes, hotels, restaurants and commission houses—from Chicago to the Pacific coast.

Mr. Willard found that such potatoes commanded higher prices than mixed lots of large and small, diseased and sound, regular and irregularly shaped "spuds." "The right kind of potatoes," he says, "bring better prices than the wrong kind and can usually be grown with very little added trouble."

"The way to begin is to plant the kind of potatoes you wish to grow. This means careful selection from the hills, observing the following rules: "Select potatoes weighing from five to eight ounces.

"Use for seed no potatoes grown in fields showing a considerable amount of wilt or rosette.

"Avoid potatoes showing brown ring discolorations at the stem end. "Save for planting no potatoes which are bruised, cracked, or decaying, or which show discolorations at stem end.

"Store carefully in moderately warm, dry and well ventilated place. "Treat with corrosive sublimate four ounces to thirty gallons of water—for an hour and a half before planting."

The moon, which was in its first quarter, was still low in the east."

It was indeed a wonderful night. On no other night since the creation has the moon in its first quarter ever been seen dallying in the east.—London Telegraph

WHAT'S ADEQUATE DEMOCRATS ASK

Term in Platform as Applied to Military Preparation.

PRESIDENT MAPS PROGRAM.

In the Final Analysis It Will Be Seen That the Word Will Mean Anything That Mr. Wilson Wants It to Mean, but There Is No Doubt That Large Improvements Will Be Made.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Oct. 14.—[Special.]—What is "adequate" in connection with military preparedness?

The last Democratic national platform declared for "an adequate navy," and the Democratic house of representatives voted for one battleship. No one has measured that word "adequate," and when the president used it he gave no intimation of what he thought it should mean.

In the final analysis it will mean what the president wants it to mean, although he may take advice on the subject. At all events it is evident that the president has concluded that the people of the country want an increased navy, a larger navy, and he is willing to give them what they want.

What Republicans Expect.

The Republicans expect that the president will come out boldly for the issue of bonds for national defense. "He can do that," said Congressman Roberts of Massachusetts, who has long been a member of the naval committee, "and he can use the money for paying other expenses of the government. If the money is in the treasury, even if it is obtained by the sale of bonds, it can be used for any purpose, and the cost of naval construction can go over to future years."

It is recalled that during the first part of Cleveland's last administration bonds were sold for the ostensible purpose of replenishing the gold reserve, but the proceeds were used for paying the running expenses of the government, which was much behind in revenue receipts at that time.

Cutting Under Teddy.

Some of the old line Republicans are taking grim delight in what they describe as "Wilson's method of cutting under Teddy." They say he has taken the wind out of Roosevelt's sails for the present in the matter of preparedness, no matter how far he goes; that he has made a stand against Germany and that in coming out for woman suffrage he has taken Roosevelt's thunder just as Bryan said Roosevelt had stolen his platform.

Sherley Is Wishful.

No man, unless it is Fitzgerald himself, is more wishful for the success of the New York congressman in his campaign for judge in New York than Swager Sherley of Kentucky. If Fitzgerald is elected judge in New York Sherley becomes chairman of the committee on appropriations. He wanted the place when Fitz was made chairman, but the law of seniority made it impossible. He was then junior to Burleson, but the selection of Burleson as postmaster general made him next in line. It is generally supposed that Fitzgerald will win in his campaign.

Cuba Almost Peaceful.

Cuba is occasionally threatened with revolutions, but the reports from the island seem to indicate a general peaceful condition. It is owing to the certain fact that when the United States intervenes again it will be for all time. And men who know enough to get up and promote a successful revolution are aware that they would not be permitted to devastate the island and plunder the people. As that is the main reason for revolutions in the Latin American countries, it is quite likely that the so called Cuban patriots will refrain from making any effort to overthrow any regularly constituted government.

The Silence of Beveridge.

"The silence of Albert J. Beveridge is significant," remarked a man from Indiana. "It means that there is not much doing in politics in the Hoosier State or Beveridge would be waving his voice far and near. But here is a guess: If that Jim Watson boom for the Republican nomination for senator makes much headway just listen for a shriek from Bev. He won't remain tame if there is a possibility of Jim Watson cooping anything."

Prohibition in Alabama.

"Prohibition is in full effect in Alabama," said Congressman Dent of that state. "After every effort on the part of its opponents to postpone action or set aside the decree of the voters it finally came to a point where all impediments were swept away and the dregs are having their way. This is mainly due to the influence of the country districts. The cities fought prohibition for a long time, and they are now in a quandary as to how they will raise revenue formerly supplied by liquor licenses."

Fit For a Long Siege.

If the other members of congress have put themselves in as good condition as Congressman Roberts of Massachusetts they will be fit for a long siege. Roberts by leading the simple life, regular exercise and golf has reduced his weight thirty pounds. He is the admiration of all the members who are inclined to bay window effects in their architecture.

A PANAMA DELUGE

On the Isthmus They Know What a Real Rainstorm Means.

LIKE SOLID WALLS OF WATER

It Comes Down in Torrents So Dense That the Rest of the World Seems to Be Blotted Out—One Three Hour Downpour That Established a Record.

Before us spread the reposing, powerful, sun shimmering Pacific. Across the bay, clear as an etching, lay Panama, backed by Ancon hill. In regular cadence the waves swept in on the sands. Such was the scene described by Mr. Harry A. Franck in "Zone Policeman 88" when he and three comrades went one day for a swim in the ocean.

We dived in, keeping an eye out for the sharks, although we knew they never came so far in and probably would not bite if they did. The sun blazed down white hot from a cloudless sky. The lieutenant and Sergeant Jack had not been able to come, but we arranged the races and jumps in the sand, for all that, and after our swim went into them with a will and—

A raindrop fell, then a few more, then many more. Before we had finished the hundred yard dash it was undeniably raining. Half a minute later "bucketfuls" would have been a weak simile. The blanket of water blotted out Panama and Ancon hill across the bay, blotted out the distant bathers, then even those close at hand.

We remained under water for a time—to keep dry. But the rain whipped our faces as with thousands of stinging lashes. We crawled out and dashed blindly up the bank toward the sawmill, the rain beating on our all but bare skins. It felt as if it might feel to stand in Miraflores locks and let the sand pour down upon us from sixty feet above. When at last we stumbled under cover and up the stairs to where our clothing hung it was as if a weight of many tons had been lifted from our shoulders.

The sawmill was without side walls and consisted only of a sheet iron roof and floors. The storm pounded on the roof with a roar that made the sign language necessary. It was as if we were surrounded on all sides by solid walls of water and forever shut off from the outer world—if, indeed, that had survived.

Sheets of water slashed in farther and farther across the floor. We took to huddling behind beams and under saw benches—the militant storm hunted us out and wetted us bit by bit. "The admiral" and I climbed up and tucked ourselves away on the forty-five degree beams up under the roaring roof. The angry water gathered together in columns and swept in and up to soak us.

At the end of an hour the downpour had increased some hundred per cent. That was the day when little harmless streams tore themselves apart into great gorges and left their pathetic little bridges alone and deserted out in the middle of the gulf. That was the famous May 12, 1912, when Ancon recorded the greatest rainfall in her history—7.23 inches, virtually all within three hours.

Three of us were ready to surrender and swim home through it. But there was "the admiral" to consider. He was dressed clear to his scarpin, and Panama tailors tear horrible holes in a policeman's salary. So we waited and dodged and squirmed into smaller holes for another hour and grew steadily wetter.

At length dusk began to fall, but instead of dying with the day the fury of the storm increased. It was then that "the admiral" capitulated, seeing fate plainly in league with his tailor. Wigwagging his decision to us, he led the way down the stairs and dived into the world awash.

Well? We had not taken the third step before we were streaming like fire hose. There was nearly an hour of it, splashing knee deep through what had been little, dry, sandy hollows; steering by guess, for the eye could make out nothing fifty yards ahead, even before the dense thick darkness fell; bowed like monagarians under the burden of water, staggering back and forth as the storm caught us crosswise or the earth gave way under us. "The admiral's" patent leather shoes—but why go into painful details?

The wall of water was as thick as ever when we fought our bowed and weary way up over the railway bridge. When we had gathered force for the last dash we plunged toward our several goals. As the door of 111 slammed behind me the downpour suddenly slackened. As I paused before my room to drain it stopped raining.

TO ISSUE APPEAL FOR PEACE

Jane Addams and Others Will Promulgate Manifesto.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—A new appeal for peace, signed by the five women who visited the capitals of Europe after attending the women's peace congress at The Hague in June, will be issued on Friday, Miss Jane Addams of Hull House announced.

The manifesto will be issued simultaneously in Europe and the United States. It was prepared by the executive committee of the International Woman's Peace party. The signers will be Miss Addams, Dr. Aletta Jacobs, Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, Miss Crystal MacMillan and Miss Emily Balch.

Miss Addams would not say what the manifesto includes, but it is thought to contain an appeal for the immediate creation of the international commission for peace, which she seeks to establish.

ADVOCATES ONE TERM IDEA

Former President Taft Also Suggests Other Reforms.

New York, Oct. 14.—A single presidential term of six or seven years; a state and national budget system; a change of presidential veto power, permitting the "cutting" of parts of bills, letting the good sections become law, are reforms suggested by ex-President Taft, speaking on "The Presidency" at Columbia university.

He condemned the waste of money in "unnecessary" public buildings and "unnecessary" army posts in "favored" districts, adding that the budget system would obviate this financial prodigality.

ANTHRAX VICTIM IS BETTER

Physicians Now Think George F. Stackpole Will Win Fight.

New York, Oct. 14.—Physicians who have been aiding George F. Stackpole in his determined five-day fight against anthrax, announced that the serum secured from the government is slowly overcoming the disease, which until now was apparently choking the man to death.

The only fear held by the physicians is that the poison in Mr. Stackpole's system will materially weaken his heart action, but stimulants have been given to offset this.

TROLLEYS CRASH; 18 HURT

Conductor of Toledo Interurban Probably Is Fatally Injured.

Toledo, O., Oct. 14.—Eighteen persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, when two Toledo and Western Electric cars crashed headon near Adrian, Mich., twenty miles from here. Conductor John Dawson is not expected to survive.

The cars were drifting without power at a rate of about thirty-five miles an hour. Both were telegraphed, one of them being driven back nearly half a mile by the impact.

Mistake in orders is said to have been the cause of the collision. Fifteen of the injured were passengers.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scales and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

"HOW CAN WE PAVE OUR STREET?"

Subject under Discussion at the Chamber of Commerce Meeting Wednesday Evening

THREE NEW MEMBERS JOINED

Endorse Movement Duluth Chamber of Commerce to Suspend Enforcement Seamen's Act

"How can we pave our streets," was the subject under discussion last evening at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce which was attended by a large and representative crowd of business men. The streets and boulevards committee through the secretary outlined the several plans which had been presented to the city council, none of which it was stated did conform with the provisions of the city charter. The point uppermost in the minds of the city council is how to obtain the funds with which to pave the intersections of all city blocks. These funds must come from what is known as the general fund which at present is depleted without a likelihood that there will be money coming in for a number of years. The committee reported that the council was every bit as anxious to start paving operations as was the citizens to have the streets paved, but because of the lack of funds nothing could be done.

G. D. LaBar, president of the First National bank, spoke upon the past, present and future conditions of city finances and pointed out that unless some relief was given the city it would be absolutely defunct and bankrupt within a period of a year. "Already," he said, "the finance committee of the city council are finding difficulty in meeting the many bills that are presented for the administration of city affairs."

It was the consensus of opinion that some plan which would give to the council permanent relief would be far more business like than to devise means for paying down town streets alone. The present tax levy of 10 mills was entirely inadequate to take care of all obligations. The city should have a tax levy of at least 12 mills. With the loss of the license money the entire levy would necessarily have to be re-adjusted.

A motion was finally presented and carried which called for a canvass of all members of the organization to learn their attitude, whether in favor of a bond issue to proceed with all street paving for which a tax levy has been made. As soon as this canvass has been completed the finding of the committee will be presented to the city council for their guidance. A letter explaining the situation will be sent to every member enclosing a return postal on which all will be asked to express their opinion.

Three new members were taken into the organization.

C. N. Erickson, manager Eagle Provision Co.

H. A. Pflughoft, agricultural instructor.

Dr. Henry W. Edwards, Jr., N. P. hospital.

The following communication was referred to the Investigation Committee: Chamber of Commerce, City.

Gentlemen: The writer wishes to voice an objection to the Chamber of Commerce indulging in any practice or business that will reflect upon it as an organization.

Not long ago at a Community Picnic held at Bay 1, a public announcement was made by one of your men that two of the banks of the city would advance money at 6% upon approved security for the purpose of enabling the farmers to buy cows or erect silos. A little later much publicity was given to the matter in the press and considerable aid was made over what wonderful things were going to be accomplished.

Complaints are being made among the farmers over this action and resulting from interviews with the county agricultural agent, the manager of the Farmers' Produce Co. and some of the prominent farmers, I defy you or the banks to show a single cow that has been brought into Crow Wing county or a silo that has been erected with money furnished at 6% by the banks in question.

The published reports of one of the banks shows that between December 31, 1914, and September 2, 1915, time deposits had fallen off $32,514.92 while the report of the other bank shows that between March 4, 1915 and September 2, 1915, its time deposits exceeding 30 days had fallen off $12,343.52 while those of less than 30 days had fallen off $31,325.69 making the offer of 6% money to farmers improbable if not impossible. Now it is well known that the Chamber of Commerce was standing sponsor for the above mentioned advertisement of cheap money and the resulting in making it the laughing stock of the agricultural interests.

If the banks in question desire to pull off an advertising stunt let it not be at the expense of your Honorable Body. With a view to obtaining a retraction from the banks or a repudiation of the entire matter by the Chamber of Commerce, I ask that this communication be referred to the investigation committee to ascertain why these things are thusly. Yours truly,

(Signed) R. R. LIVINGSTON.

A resolution from the Duluth Commercial Club was presented pertaining to the immediate enforcement of the Seamen's Act. The Public Affairs committee of the Duluth organization are soliciting the support of all organizations in the northwest with a view of asking the Secretary of Commerce at Washington to suspend the enforcement of the act until after Dec. 15th so as to allow the movement of all grain via the lake route without serious interruption which would result if the act was immediately put into force. It was unanimously voted to adopt the resolution and to forward a copy of same to the Secretary of Commerce at Washington, D. C.

A COMMUNITY WELFARE NURSE

Such a Nurse is Needed in City to Investigate Cases Poor and Sick

TAG DAY HERE ON OCTOBER 6TH

Associated Charities Hopes Generous Contributions Will be Made Next Saturday

Who in our community would have a child kept from school because he has not fit clothing, or let him go without proper food for weeks at a time? Or who would know that a sick person was lying uncared for and neglected? Yet this has been the lot of many a one in our city because there is no one who makes a business of investigating the homes and conditions and bring to light such cases.

There are plenty of citizens and organizations that are willing to give aid in the way of food, fuel and clothing when cases of poverty and sickness are brought to their attention. There should be some one to point out these cases, to make known what is needed and to make proper distribution of aid when secured.

It is a community welfare nurse that we need. Such a nurse makes a business of investigating the cases of the poor and sick. She knows exactly what is needed and can use the donations of charitable people and organizations to the greatest advantage and in the most economical way.

By instituting Saturday of this week as Tag Day, the Associated Charities has made it possible for every one to contribute towards the worthy cause of securing for our city a visiting nurse.

25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair! Make it Thick, Wavy and Beautiful—Try This!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Advt.

BIG MEETING OCT. 16

Senior Counselor J. C. Higbe Writes to the Boys of U. C. T. Council No. 545

In a letter to members of United Commercial Travelers Council No. 545 of Brainerd, J. C. Higbe, the senior counselor, says:

"We doubt very much if there is any class of men on 'God's green foot-stool' that has less time for their own personal pleasure than do the members of the U. C. T., but listen, boys, let's break away from the trials of business for a short time each month and mingle with each other and forget for one short evening that there is an order to be had, a collection to be made or a report to be sent to the house.

This is a grand old order, Brothers, and none of us would care to be without the protection that it affords, so let us all get together and pull for a bigger and better lodge of the U. C. T's.

We are going to make Saturday night, October 16, the opening night of our winter campaign and we will have with us on this occasion Senator W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis, of whom we need say very little as you are all familiar with what he has done in the senate for the traveling man. Senator Campbell is an entertainer and orator of no mean ability and you should not miss this opportunity to hear him.

Mr. Campbell is very partial toward the ladies and has suggested that we bring them with us, so don't forget to be on hand Saturday night at eight o'clock. Arrange to have the ladies come a little later if not convenient to come with you.

There will be plenty to eat and lots of good fun as we have several other speakers of state prominence on the list.

We also have initiation and need many a strong arm. Yours for the good of the order, J. C. Higbe, Senior Counselor."

No doubt everybody remembers Mr. Harris' sentimental ballad, which took the country by storm about ten years ago, and the chorus of which is as follows:

"Always in the way, so they always say,
I wonder why they don't kiss me,
Just the same as Sister May?
Always in the way, I can never play,
My own mamma would never say
I am always in the way.

The screen production of this famous song has been made into five acts from a scenario by Mr. Harris himself and is just as sentimental as the song. Miss Minter, a new-comer on the Metro program, and a fascinating screen personality withal, is supported by an all star cast of players.

The State of Minnesota.

By Governor Winfield S. Hammond.

The state of Minnesota is loved by all who live within its borders. It has something that appeals to men and women of all trades and professions. It offers opportunities to rich and poor alike. Probably no other state has more varied resources.

Minnesota leads in many things. It was once famed as a great wheat growing state. Now it furnishes also the best butter for the bread made from Minnesota wheat. Minnesota has more co-operative creameries than any other state and has won ten of the twelve banners offered by the National Buttermakers' association for the best butter.

It is also becoming a leading corn and beef producing state. In 1914 Minnesota produced 91,000,000 bushels of corn and 43,000,000 bushels of wheat. The value of the corn crop that year was $47,000,000, and of the wheat crop $43,800,000.

Minnesota produces more iron ore than all the other states put together and more than any foreign nation except Germany. Minnesota has a larger school fund than any other state. The school and University fund now totals $34,000,000 and the state still owns large areas of land and great timber and mineral resources which, it is believed, will in time bring $200,000,000 into its trust funds.

Our state was a pioneer in agricultural and industrial education. This work was begun twenty-five years ago and now there are nearly 4,000 taking the agricultural courses at the State university (including the summer courses). There are departments of agriculture and industrial training in 140 of our 200 high schools and more than 100 consolidated rural schools offer similar training.

But Minnesota is more than a state with great material resources and a great school system. It is a state where the best elements from our eastern states and of European countries have combined to make a great commonwealth, whose people are as intelligent, progressive and patriotic as can be found anywhere.

VALUE OF STATE INSTITUTIONS

REPRESENT TOTAL INVESTMENT
OF $15,088,967.72.

Prison at Stillwater Is Largest State
Institution of its Kind in the Country.

By Ralph Wheelock,
State Board of Control.

The valuation of Minnesota's 16 state institutions is $15,088,967.72. The average population is 9,530.

The average number of employees is 1,542. Average number of inmates to each employee is 6.2 and average yearly wage per employee is $562.47.

The net cost of maintenance and operation of institutions yearly is $1,675,119.84; net cost per inmate $174.63. The valuation of farm and garden property is $235,785.81 with a profit to the state in 1914 of $99,734.64.

The lowest average cost per inmate is in the prison at Stillwater. To the credit of the 1,000 or more inmates making up the prison population, the manufacture of 21,855,415 pounds of binding twine and $474,293.50 worth of farm machinery was placed, and the bank account of the institution credited with a net profit of $350,852.30 from the two industries. In addition there was paid to the inmates for labor in 1914 $75,000.00, which went largely to the support of their families.

As the largest state institution of its kind in the country—given over a line of industries peculiar to the agricultural interests of Minnesota—the Stillwater prison and its policies are unique in many ways. No private concern strives harder for a profit, none apportions that profit with greater concern for those to be benefited, and none certainly combines in the two a better method of thrift and uplift for those employed.

FORESIGHT OF HER PIONEERS

Story of Minnesota Public Lands Is
Rebuke to States That Squandered
Valuable Grants.

The wisdom of the founders of Minnesota is beyond question, for as the result of their forethought and the good judgment of such men as Alexander Ramsey and other early lawmakers, our state stands out and ahead of any other in the Union in its provisions for the schools and other public institutions of the state. So prominent is this contrast that the Youth's Companion, known throughout the world for its conservative statements and reliability, says:

"Most of the states to which the national government has made large grants of land find little satisfaction in telling how they have disposed of it. To this rule Minnesota is a notable exception, and the story of its public lands is both a rebuke to other states that have squandered their valuable grants and a lesson to the states that still have natural resources worth preserving."

"While other states were selling their public lands for a dollar or so an acre and using the money for current expenses, Minnesota was selling the land itself for agricultural purposes for $5 an acre; it put the total proceeds into a permanent fund for the benefit of its schools and of its charitable and penal institutions. The fund now amounts to $34,000,000 and gives Minnesota a larger school fund than that of any other state in the Union. Four neighboring states, to which the national government was not less generous in allotting public lands, have all together funds of only $16,000,000."

"Moreover, Minnesota still owns 2,500,000 acres, mainly in the timber district, and from the sale of the timber and of the land to the settlers the state will double its present permanent fund before many years have passed. More important still, it owns 40,000 acres of land in which there are rich deposits of iron. The state has leased the iron ore land for long periods at advantageous terms. The land has already yielded $3,000,000, and under the present contracts it will yield about $150,000,000 in the next generation. Thus, by 1950, Minnesota expects to have a permanent fund of fully $200,000,000, which will yield at 4 per cent, $8,000,000 a year for its schools and other public institutions."

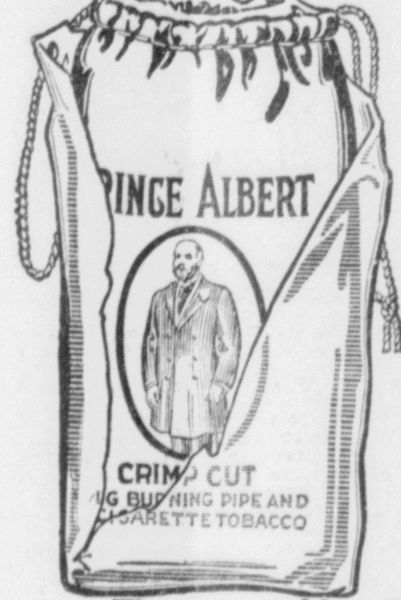

"The care of this fund is an important part of the business of the state government, which acts in the capacity of trustee. Of the present fund of $34,000,000 about $7,000,000 is invested in the bonds of other states, $15,000,000 has been lent to counties, cities and townships within the state, and the rest, drawing interest at 4 per cent, is in contracts of sale for farming lands."

"Minnesota deserves the heartiest congratulations of the other states for the far sighted wisdom of its early lawmakers, and for the fidelity with which its officials of later years have guarded their trust. Such a splendid record of efficiency and honesty gives new heart to those who are working for the welfare of states that have been less thrifty."

Shows Minnesota's Wealth.

The department of commerce of the census bureau, in its figures on the national wealth lately made public, shows Minnesota's wealth to be $5,547,000,000—a figure just above those of Michigan and Indiana, and just below those of Missouri, New Jersey and Massachusetts. It's a fine and impressive figure, and the relative position of Minnesota among the states is gratifying, indeed.

The toppy red bag, 5c

For you can put your little old blue-pencil O. K. right here that Prince Albert is a regular double-header for a single admission—as joy us to your tongue and taste one way as the other!

Will the "rollers" kindly step forward for a spell and get some of this listen into their systems? Because Prince Albert certain and sure jams more joy into a makin's paper than ever before was figured up on two hands!

In the plain language of the hills, you can't any more resist such makin's tobacco than a bullfrog can pass up a piece of red flannel! Because P. A. hands to you everything any cigarette roller ever dreamed-out—rare flavor, and aroma, and mildness, and body; absolutely the best bet—the best smoke

And that line of conversation is 24 kt., whether you play P. A. in your old jimmy pipe or roll it into a makin's cigarette.

Detraction.

In some unlucky dispositions there is such an exiguous kind of pride that they cannot endure that any but themselves should be set forth for excellence, so that when they hear one justly praised they will either seek to discount his virtues or, if they be like a clear light, they will stab him with a butt of detraction, as if there were something yet so foul as did obnubilate even his brightest glory. When their tongue cannot justly condemn him they will leave him suspected by their silence.—Fetham.
